

Executive Education

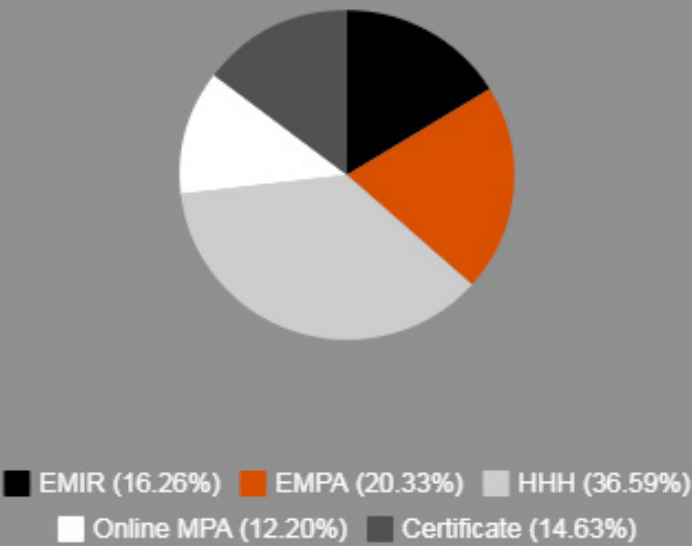

The Maxwell School’s Executive Education department has been preparing the next generation of leaders for a global community since 1964. Over 10,000 people from all over the world have completed our graduate degrees and professional training programs. People come to Maxwell and Executive Education to make a difference and transform their communities large and small, global, and local. Executive Education at the Maxwell School is about active citizenship and leadership.

Credit-Bearing Programs

- Executive Masters of Public Administration (EMPA) and International Relations (EMIR) (on-campus)
- Online EMPA and EMIR in DC
- Certificates of Advanced Study
 - Public Administration
 - Health Services Management and Policy
 - E-Government
 - Public Infrastructure Management and Leadership

Exec Ed

82 partners in 91 countries

650 Training Sessions

locations

SU faculty and outside faculty of students and participants

Executive Training Programs

- China Programs
- India Programs
- National Security Studies
- Transnational NGO Training
- Hubert H. Humphrey Fellows
- National Forum for Black Public Administrators
- UP-Mexico, Thailand-FPRI
- Young African Leader Initiative (YALI)